Dear Mortgagor(s):

We are in receipt of correspondence requesting information regarding your loan. Federal law requires Selene Finance LP to respond to your correspondence within 30 business days of receipt, or less if required by state law. Your request is a priority with us and in the interim if you require additional assistance, please contact our Customer Service Department toll-free at (877) 735-3637.

If your correspondence is related to a payment application, please be advised that Selene will suspend adverse credit reporting on your loan for 60 days from the date of receipt.

Sincerely,

Customer Service Department
Selene Finance LP

PLEASE SEE IMPORTANT NOTICES ON THE LAST PAGE OF THIS LETTER.

IMPORTANT NOTICES:

Selene Finance LP is required by law to advise you that it is a debt collector. However, if you are currently in a bankruptcy proceeding or have previously obtained an Order of Discharge in a Chapter 7 bankruptcy case, this communication is for compliance and/or informational purposes only and is not an attempt to collect the debt against you personally. Instead, it is a notice of possible enforcement of the lien against the collateral property, which has not been discharged in your bankruptcy.

For Servicemembers and their Dependents: The Federal Servicemembers Civil Relief Act and certain state laws provide important protections for you, including, under most circumstances, a prohibition on foreclosure during and twelve months after the servicemember's active duty service. Selene will not foreclose on the property of a servicemember or his or her dependent during that time, except pursuant to a court order. You also may be entitled to other protections under these laws, including interest rate and fee relief. Please contact us to learn more about your rights. "Military OneSource" is the U. S. Department of Defense's information resource. If you are listed as entitled to legal protections under the SCRA (see above), please go to www.militaryonesource.mil/legal or call (800) 342-9647 (toll free from the United States) to find out more information. Dialing instructions for areas outside the United States are provided on the website.

misrepresentation of fact made by you. If the agency declines or rescinds the block, it must notify you. Once a debt resulting from identity theft has been blocked, a person or business with notice of the block may not sell, transfer, or place the debt for collection.

6. You also may prevent businesses from reporting information about you to consumer reporting agencies if you believe the information is a result of identity theft. To do so, you must send your request to the address specified by the business that reports the information to the consumer reporting agency. The business will expect you to identify what information you do not want reported and to provide an identity theft report.

7. The following FCRA right applies with respect to nationwide consumer reporting agencies:

CONSUMERS HAVE THE RIGHT TO OBTAIN A SECURITY FREEZE

You have a right to place a "security freeze" on your credit report, which will prohibit a consumer reporting agency from releasing information in your credit report without your express authorization. The security freeze is designed to prevent credit, loans, and services from being approved in your name without your consent. However, you should be aware that using a security freeze to take control over who gets access to the personal and financial information in your credit report may delay, interfere with, or prohibit the timely approval of any subsequent request or application you make regarding a new loan, credit, mortgage, or any other account involving the extension of credit.

As an alternative to a security freeze, you have the right to place an initial or extended fraud alert on your credit file at no cost. An initial fraud alert is a 1-year alert that is placed on a consumer's credit file. Upon seeing a fraud alert display on a consumer's credit file, a business is required to take steps to verify the consumer's identity before extending new credit. If you are a victim of identity theft, you are entitled to an extended fraud alert, which is a fraud alert lasting 7 years.

A security freeze does not apply to a person or entity, or its affiliates, or collection agencies acting on behalf of the person or entity, with which you have an existing account that requests information in your credit report for the purposes of reviewing or collecting the account. Reviewing the account includes activities related to account maintenance, monitoring, credit line increases, and account upgrades and enhancements.

To learn more about identity theft and how to deal with its consequences, visit www.consumerfinance.gov/learnmore, or write to the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau. You may have additional rights under state law. For more information, contact your local consumer protection agency or your state Attorney General.

In addition to the new rights and procedures to help consumers deal with the effects of identity theft, the FCRA has many other important consumer protections. They are described in more detail at www.consumerfinance.gov/learnmore.

Remedying the Effects of Identity Theft

You are receiving this information because you have notified a consumer reporting agency that you believe that you are a victim of identity theft. Identity theft occurs when someone uses your name, Social Security number, date of birth, or other identifying information, without authority, to commit fraud. For example, someone may have committed identity theft by using your personal information to open a credit card account or get a loan in your name. For more information, visit www.consumerfinance.gov/learnmore or write to: Consumer Financial Protection Bureau, 1700 G Street N.W., Washington, DC 20552.

The Fair Credit Reporting Act (FCRA) gives you specific rights when you are, or believe that you are, the victim of identity theft. Here is a brief summary of the rights designed to help you recover from identity theft.

1. You have the right to ask that nationwide consumer reporting agencies place "fraud alerts" in your file to let potential creditors and others know that you may be a victim of identity theft. A fraud alert can make it more difficult for someone to get credit in your name because it tells creditors to follow certain procedures to protect you. It also may delay your ability to obtain credit. You may place a fraud alert in your file by calling just one of the three nationwide consumer reporting agencies. As soon as that agency processes your fraud alert, it will notify the other two, which then also must place fraud alerts in your file.

- Equifax: 1-800-525-6285 www.equifax.com
- Experian: 1-888-397-3742 www.experian.com
- TransUnion: 1-800-680-7289 www.transunion.com

An initial fraud alert stays in your file for at least one year. An extended alert stays in your file for seven years. To place either of these alerts, a consumer reporting agency will require you to provide appropriate proof of your identity, which may include your Social Security number. If you ask for an extended alert, you will have to provide an identity theft report. An identity theft report includes a copy of a report you have filed with a federal, state, or local law enforcement agency, and additional information a consumer reporting agency may require you to submit. For more detailed information about the identity theft report, visit www.consumerfinance.gov/learnmore.

2. You have the right to free copies of the information in your file (your "file disclosure"). An initial fraud alert entitles you to a copy of all the information in your file at each of the three nationwide agencies, and an extended alert entitles you to two free file disclosures in a 12-month period following the placing of the alert. These additional disclosures may help you detect signs of fraud, for example, whether fraudulent accounts have been opened in your name or whether someone has reported a change in your address. Once a year, you also have the right to a free copy of the information in your file at any consumer reporting agency, if you believe it has inaccurate information due to fraud, such as identity theft. You also have the ability to obtain additional free file disclosures under other provisions of the FCRA. See www.consumerfinance.gov/learnmore.

3. You have the right to obtain documents relating to fraudulent transactions made or accounts opened using your personal information. A creditor or other business must give you copies of applications and other business records relating to transactions and accounts that resulted from the theft of your identity, if you ask for them in writing. A business may ask you for proof of your identity, a police report, and an affidavit before giving you the documents. It also may specify an address for you to send your request. Under certain circumstances, a business can refuse to provide you with these documents. See www.consumerfinance.gov/learnmore.

4. You have the right to obtain information from a debt collector. If you ask, a debt collector must provide you with certain information about the debt you believe was incurred in your name by an identity thief - like the name of the creditor and the amount of the debt.

5. If you believe information in your file results from identity theft, you have the right to ask that a consumer reporting agency block that information from your file. An identity thief may run up bills in your name and not pay them. Information about the unpaid bills may appear on your consumer report. Should you decide to ask a consumer reporting agency to block the reporting of this information, you must identify the information to block, and provide the consumer reporting agency with proof of your identity and a copy of your identity theft report. The consumer reporting agency can refuse or cancel your request for a block if, for example, you don't provide the necessary documentation, or where the block results from an error or a material

We have completed our investigation of your dispute request. The following pages contain details about the information that you disputed and the results of our investigation.

There are a few things to know about the credit report dispute process:

If we were able to make changes to your credit report based on the information you provided, we have done so. Otherwise, we contacted the company reporting the disputed information to Equifax so that they could further research your dispute.

When we contacted the reporting company to research your dispute:

- We requested that the reporting company verify the accuracy of the information you disputed;
- We provided them with any relevant information and supporting documentation you provided us with the dispute to consider as part of their research; and
- We requested that they send Equifax a response to your dispute and update their records and systems, as necessary.

Reading your dispute result:

- We have provided information about each item that you disputed, including how it currently appears on your Equifax credit report.
- The results of your dispute are specific to each item that you disputed and may be different. For each item, we either confirmed that the disputed item is either reporting correctly, updated information about the item, or removed the item from your credit report.
- Where it is available, we have provided the payment history for disputed credit accounts. The below legend provides information about how to read the payment history status of the account in each month.

Payment History Legend

If you have any questions about your dispute result after reviewing this document, please visit us at www.equifax.com/personal/disputes, or call us at 1-888-EQUIFAX (888-378-4329).

Disputed Non-Reporting Items

You disputed the item(s) listed below. However, they are not currently reporting on your Equifax credit report. We recommend contacting the reporting company directly. You may also check with the other nationwide credit reporting agencies (Experian and TransUnion) to see if they are reporting the below information.

Most common reasons why some information may not be listed on your Equifax credit report:

- Reporting Practices: Not all lenders and creditors report to all three nationwide credit reporting agencies.
- Time Limitations: Accounts, particularly those that are closed or contain negative information, are removed from your credit report after a specific period.
- Previous Requests: Some information may have already been removed if a previous dispute was submitted to the lender, creditor, or other nationwide credit reporting agency.

What should I do if I do not agree with the dispute results?

You have rights:

- You have the right to add a statement of up to 100 words to your credit report to provide more information on an item you disagree with or would like to provide details on. A consumer statement is visible to lenders and other third parties who access your Equifax credit report; it will not affect your credit score. You can add, edit or delete your consumer statement on your Equifax credit report for free and at any time. By adding a consumer statement, you expressly consent to include this information in every credit report we issue about you.
- Or, if you have new or additional evidence of the inaccuracy, you may re-file your dispute by visiting our website www.equifax.com/personal/disputes, mailing your documents to Equifax, P.O. Box 740256, Atlanta, GA 30374-0256, or contact us by calling us at 888-EQUIFAX (888-378-4329).
- You may contact the company that reports the information to us and dispute it directly with them. If you would like written proof about your accounts (such as the original agreement), please contact your creditors directly.
- You may contact the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau or your State Attorney General's office about your issue or complaint against Equifax or the company reporting the information.

Additional information about your rights:

- If the reinvestigation results in the deletion of disputed information, or you submit a consumer statement, you have the right to request that we send your revised credit file to any company specifically designated by you that received your credit report in the past six months (twelve months for Maryland, New Jersey and New York residents) for any purpose or in the past two years for employment purposes.
- You may request a description of the procedure used to determine the accuracy and completeness of the information, including the business name and address of the furnisher of information contacted, and if reasonably available the telephone number. For frequently asked questions about your credit report and the dispute process, please visit Equifax at <https://www.equifax.com/personal/help/disputes/>.
